Dear Mr Jefferys.

Your book "The Picture Gallery of Canadian History" arrived at a most opportune and happy time, just as I was looking around for some reading matter to take on my vacation. I enjoyed it very much and feel that you have done a real job - one that must give you a good deal of satisfaction and also I hope some reasonable financial return.

"The First Prescription - Canada" has reproduced well and I feel myself fortunate to have the original

The references which you give as one reads are a valuable part of the book and will lead to wider reading in Canadian History.

At the moment I find myself pretty well occupied with routine surgery, with little time for outside activities.

Botterell & Keith are both overseas.

What a dreadful business this war is. I wish that out of it all something closer than just "friendship & co-operation" would arise between U.S. & the Brit. Empire.

I fear that both may not last for long after the war - A common money & tariffs all abolished would help to make for a more permanent unity of the English speaking peoples.

Mr McKenzie joins me in wishing you health & carry on your activities. She is now reading your book with great pleasure. Yours Sincerely.

K. G. McKenzie

P.S. We have cut out the review in Globe & Mail. to keep with the book.
